Professor David A. Castañón Boston University

EDUCATION
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
    Ph.D., Applied Mathematics, 1976
Tulane University
    B.S., Electrical Engineering, 1971

WORK EXPERIENCE
Boston University
    Director, Center for Information and Systems Engineering, 2003 - Present
    Associate Director, NSF Engineering Research Center on Subsurface Sensing and Imaging Systems, 2000 - Present
    Professor, Dept. of Electrical and Computer Engineering, 1998 - Present
    Associate Professor, Dept. of Electrical and Computer Engineering, 1990 - 1998
Alphatech, Inc.
    Chief Scientist, 1986 - 1990
    Senior Scientist, 1981 - 1986
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
    Research Scientist, 1976 - 1981

AREAS OF EXPERTISE
Stochastic control and estimation, optimization, automatic target recognition, multitarget tracking, cooperative control of unmanned aerial vehicles, subsurface imaging, remote sensing.

PROFESSIONAL/SCIENTIFIC/HONORARY AFFILIATIONS
Senior member, IEEE; Vice President of Finance and Board of Governors, IEEE Control Systems Society; member of INFORMS and SIAM; Tau Beta Pi, Phi Eta Sigma honorary societies.